Fill the gaps

Medicare provides beneficial coverage for health-related expenses, but it does not cover all health care expenses. There are a number of gaps in Medicare coverage that you need to pay for out-of-pocket or with private insurance. A Medicare Supplement insurance policy is a health insurance policy (also called Medigap) sold by a private insurance company to help fill in some of those gaps.

Feel good about your choices

A Medicare Supplement policy has no restrictive networks. You can visit the providers of your choice including primary care physicians, specialists, and hospitals that accept Medicare patients. Most providers are paid automatically so you won't have to worry about filing a claim.

Take care of yourself

A Medicare Supplement insurance policy helps you manage and budget your health care expenses with predictability and stability. A Medicare Supplement policy helps pay some of the out-of-pocket for Medicare-approved services and works with Medicare to provide more coverage to you.

Know your options

Although private insurance companies provide Medicare Supplement coverage, Medicare Supplement insurance policies are strictly regulated by both federal and state government.

It's important to make an informed decision about what's right for you. Before you apply for a policy, get to know what the coverage includes. Then choose a Medicare Supplement policy that best fits your needs.
